

UNIVERSITY OF NORTH CAROLINA AT ASHEVILLE
2013–2014 Tuition and Fees, Room, and Board (per semester)

Tuition Due Dates:

Fall semester tuition is due August 1, 2013
 Spring semester tuition is due December 15, 2013

Students are expected to pay by the dates above for any portion of their tuition, fees, room, and board that will not be covered by financial aid, scholarships, Voc Rehab, VA benefits, or a payment plan through Tuition Management Services.

Student Responsibility For Charges:

The University of North Carolina at Asheville attempts to make sure each student is notified of charges to his/her student account. However, charges go on at various times throughout each semester depending upon when the student registers and the student's particular activity. Failure to receive a billing statement does not relieve any student from financial responsibility for charges on their account. It is the student's responsibility to monitor their student account and to pay for any charges on their account in a timely manner. Failure of the student to pay charges on their account may result in not being able to register for future classes, not being able to receive a transcript and being assessed late charges and interest on past due balances.

Tuition rates are subject to change by the General Assembly

Meal Plan Mid-Year Increase 2013/14:

The North Carolina General Assembly made significant changes to the Sales and Use Tax Code during its 2013 General Session. One of the changes will have an impact on how much students pay for meals at universities in North Carolina.

Previously, students at higher education institutions in North Carolina were exempt from paying sales tax when they purchased food on campus. However, this exemption in G.S. 105-164.13(27) was repealed by the North Carolina tax reform bill (H998) SL 2013-316.

The University has been advised that meal plans and campus food transactions will be subject to North Carolina sales tax effective January 1, 2014. The sales tax required will be 7%, which will increase the cost of Spring 2014 semester meal plans by $116.

The increase to Spring 2014 semester meal plans for this sales tax will be reflected on student bills that go out later this month (Nov. 2013). Students who have financial aid questions related to this change should contact the Financial Aid Office at 251-6535.
